GOOD NEWS

Eric Morrow, longtime staffer at The Guilford Building, is working here again every afternoon. Eric has been recovering from a long illness for the last year or so. During that time, Carl Jarrell stepped in to help. While Eric was gone, he lost about 100 pounds, but now he has a new, slim-fit wardrobe and is feeling well again. Welcome back Eric!

PARKING DECK NEXT DOOR TO BE TORN DOWN

The asphalt deck on the south side of The Guilford Building is dilapidated and on the verge of collapse. The Weaver Company, the owner of that property, has contracted D.H. Griffin to remove the deck, shore up surrounding walls, and build a new parking surface in the old garage underneath the deck. The new parking area will serve mostly the tenants of The Greensborough Court Apartments.

No definite, start-work date has been announced yet, but our neighbors think it will be mid-to-late April when machinery and crews start to arrive. There probably will be some noise and disruption during this project, but every effort will be made to expedite the work. Hallimar Properties will have eyes on the project with a newly-installed camera.

More information to come.
